PRESIDENT REVIEWS PARADE Crowds Received Him with Cheers All

Along the Line. Washington, Oct. S.—President Roose-velt to-day reviewed the Grand Army parade in his carriage. He was carried down stairs from his room on the secand floor of the temporary White House in an invalid's chair at 11:10 this morn-ing and amid the cheers of a large crowd was placed in a carriage in which there was a board to support his injured leg. He was accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou and Colonel Bingham, his military aide. The carriage was guarded by a platoon of mounted police. As the carringe appeared on the avenue the Presi-

President and Mrs. Roosevelt returned to the White House about 1:30 p. m. hav-ing been gone an hour and a half. They had driven through Rock Creek and Zoological Parks but kept clear of the crowds. Several thousand people waiting
